Dear Parents and Carers,

You may have heard from the government update yesterday that a variety of resources and initiatives are being set up to support your continued efforts while schools are closed to most of our children.

A number of online resources have been created and are free for you to access. We wanted to share these with you and explain how we will be incorporating them into our weekly home learning plans to ensure our children are supported in the best way we can in these challenging times. As a school we must stress that there is no correct way for you to be supporting them and the wellbeing of you and our community is paramount at the moment.

The BBC have launched today daily English, maths and a curriculum lesson that can be accessed at:

<https://www.bbc.co.uk/bitesize>

Additionally, the Oak National Academy has been set up as an online classroom and resource hub with lessons and activities for each year group. These can be accessed at: <https://www.thenational.academy/online-classroom>

While these are excellent resources, we recognise that they rely heavily on devices, the use of the internet, and may not be easily accessible for families with many children trying to access the online tasks at once. We would encourage you to therefore refer to other resources we have sent home that can be done as a whole family.

Teachers will continue to upload weekly planning and resources onto the website and may use some of these online tools to support the curriculum within each year group however, please use other resources and tools to support you and your family and work around your own schedules.

We thank you for your continued support and look forward to any photos and messages of work you have done.

Kind regards
